

Too old to hang with daughter?

Posted by Barbarasbaby - 2009/07/20 11:10

My beautiful 32 year old single daughter has invited me to go clubbing with her. We've always been mistaken for sisters but am I too old to party with my child? Oh yeah, I'm a sexy 52 year old.

=====

Re:Too old to hang with daughter?

Posted by icequeen - 2009/09/22 10:52

Hmmmm it depends on the the club. I would feel weird partying with my kid.

=====

Re:Too old to hang with daughter?

Posted by Steve02 - 2009/10/27 07:20

If your daughter invited you, go and have fun. But maybe have an escape plan (for both of your sakes) like separate cars for leaving early etc. :cheer:

=====

Re:Too old to hang with daughter?

Posted by Jenice2010 - 2010/04/05 01:23

Mother-daughter relationship is the most powerful bond in the world.

A Pennsylvania State University had found that despite conflicts and complicated emotions, 80 to 90 per cent of women at midlife reported a good relationship with their mother.

"The relationship between mothers and their adult daughters is one in which the participants handle being upset with one another better than in any other relationship," said researcher Karen Fingerman, author of Aging Mothers And Their Adult Daughters: A Study In Mixed Emotions (Springer).
<http://www.powmac.com/Charlotte> Personal Injury Lawyer

=====